

Japs Have Ultimatum Ready To Present to China and Demands Are Not Guaranteed

Document in Hands of Japanese Diplomats at Peking, Who Are Trying to Persuade Chinese to Accede.

FURTHER CONCESSIONS ARE MADE BY CHINA

If Ultimatum Is Presented, Appeal Will Be Made to United States, Great Britain, Russia and France.

Peking, May 7.—The Japanese legation has informed the Chinese foreign office that Japan would be unable to accept the further concessions offered Thursday by China, and would present an ultimatum before 7 o'clock (Friday) afternoon, unless the twenty-four demands were accepted by China without qualification.

The Japanese legation continued yesterday its efforts to persuade the Chinese government to concede Japan's demands without the necessity of serving the ultimatum, which was received early yesterday.

The secretary of the legation visited the foreign office and informed Vice Minister Tiao Tulin that the legation had received the ultimatum and that it would be presented unless China agreed to Japan's twenty-four demands before 7 o'clock in the evening. Tiao immediately visited Tuan Shi Kai, and after a conference with the executive and other members of the cabinet, the government decided to accede to the ultimatum following further concessions.

More Concessions Made.
China, yesterday, regarding Shantung province, that she would grant Japan everything that already had been granted to Germany there by treaty.

China agreed to grant Japan the right to work mines in south Manchuria and eastern Mongolia; that all disputes between the Japanese and Manchuria, of whatever nature, shall be under Japanese jurisdiction; that all roads and hospitals may lease land from the Chinese, thereby reserving land ownership; to grant a concession to build a railway from the Chinese-Chow-Fu railway, if Great Britain consents to the release of China from the negotiations begun concerning this railroad two years ago. The Japanese claim they requested concession for this railroad in 1907.

China's Three Stipulations.
The three stipulations made to the demands in the nature of counter proposals last Sunday were not withdrawn by China. These stipulations were: That China should participate in an international conference for a reorganization of the altered status of Shantung; indemnity for the losses incurred in consequence of the Japanese campaign and the restoration of the status of Shantung as before the war.

It is said that the Chinese government has resolved to communicate with the United States, Great Britain, Russia and France, on receipt of the ultimatum, and that the nature of the communication will depend on the nature of the ultimatum.

TIME LIMIT EXPIRES SUNDAY.
On May 14.—Official announcement was made here this afternoon that Japan has sent an ultimatum to China.

The ultimatum stipulates that China must accept unconditionally the Japanese demands.

The newspaper says in an extra edition that this was decided upon by the council.

It is understood that the Japanese ultimatum demands acceptance by China of the Japanese demands within a time limit which expires at 6 p. m. Sunday, May 9.

JAP DEMANDS SCORED BY BRITISH PAPER.
London, May 8.—The Daily News to-day editorially:

"It would not be easy to parallel such demands from one power to another as Japan has made on China. In many respects they are more stringent than the Austrian demands on Serbia, which led to the European war."

"China has done nothing to incur such a penalty. She offered no menace to Japan, and she wanted only to enjoy her own liberties in her own way."

"If China had a military nation who never would have been thus challenged, she would have been able to resist the winning game of the war."

"It will be the last and the most bitter tragedy of this war if one of its consequences be that the Anglo-Japanese alliance is broken, and that the signatories of that alliance."

JAPANESE CIVILIANS FLEE FROM MUKDEN.
Mukden, May 6.—(Via Peking).—Japanese consular orders have resulted in a general flight of Japanese from Mukden. The value of a gold yen has increased thirty silver cents and a rich harvest was reaped by exchange brokers. All Japanese except a few bankers and railway officials now have left.

All classes of Chinese view the exodus with stolid indifference, not inquiring or molesting in any way the persons leaving the city. Although the streets are deeply perturbed, the remains quiet.

Japanese troops occupy strategic points in Mukden. The Chinese soldiers are reported to be moving into position south of the city. Many of the residents in that district are coming north.

Finance Committee Convinced That Request for $15,000 for Improvements Should Be Granted.

After a careful personal investigation Thursday members of the council finance committee declared they were convinced that the request of patrons of the Tenth street school for $15,000 for improvements should be granted, and that the proposed open-air school room should be built to take care of the pupils next fall.

The committee was directed through the building by Miss Ella Dunlap, the principal, and L. N. Landrum, assistant superintendent of education, who pointed out the crowded condition of the room; the cracking and falling plastering; the insanitary conditions of the toilets and the need of artificial lighting.

While the committee was at the school the afternoon class began to assemble for their studies, since all the 577 pupils enrolled cannot be accommodated at the morning session.

One of the committee asked a crowd of children how many of them would rather attend an afternoon session under the double session plan than attend the morning session. Only one child held up her hand. Four of the six graders, however, did attend classes at the afternoon session.

"We are already wondering what to do with so many of the children begging for seats in the outdoor study quarters the patrons are asking for," said Miss Dunlap. "I have told them they will probably have to draw away for places."

Alderman Armstrong, a member of the party, said the Lee street school, which had proven very popular in health and were able to do better work in their studies.

The finance committee, said there was no use denying the need of more room and an auditorium for the school, and the finance committee will no doubt include in the next session the building of a school for $15,000 for these improvements.

German and Austrian Successes Gigantic Offensive

ROSSIAN RETREAT
DEFEE AUSTRIANS

Vienna Reports Austrians Have Crossed the Wisloka River, and That Tarnow Has Been Captured.

Vienna, May 6.—(Via London, May 7, 11:30 a. m.)—The Austrian southern wing has crossed the Wisloka river. The Russians are retreating eastward of the Lipupok pass.

An official communication issued this evening by the war office says:

"At 4 o'clock this afternoon the last Russian positions on the heights east of the Dunajec and the Biala rivers were gained by our troops."

"Tarnow was captured by us at 10 o'clock this morning."

German Advance Unchecked.
Vienna, May 6.—(Via London, 11:20 p. m.)—The strategic achievement of rolling up a hostile battion from a flanking attack, of which Chancellorsville is one of the few successful examples in modern history, is in full progress in west Galicia. Favored by continued good weather, mile after mile of the Russian Carpathian front has been rendered untenable by the steady, unchecked Austro-German advance.

The Austrian cavalry and infantry followed the Gorlice turnpike and have already reached the Wisloka river. The supporting artillery dropped shells on the road from Semirad to Jaslo, one of the principal lines of retreat of the Russians in the Dukla region.

The Russian forces have been in full retreat since dawn of May 6, and are being closely followed by the Austrian Carpathian army, according to official advices reaching here. More than 40,000 prisoners already have been captured by the Austrians in west Galicia.

Field Marshal von Hostensdorff's plan of working out with predatory warfare, which was the basis of the Austrian offensive, is being carried out. Headquarters expresses confidence that the Russian army under General Radko Dimitrieff, which is attempting to defend positions west of Lipupok, cannot make good its retreat.

Cannot Avoid Capture.
Detachments of this army may work their way out, but it is declared the bulk of the army, with the heavy artillery and baggage, cannot avoid capture, in view of Field Marshal von Hostensdorff's plan of working out with predatory warfare, which was the basis of the Austrian offensive, is being carried out.

Progress on the northern half of the front is slower. The Russians are holding desperately to Tarnow and Valmasz, which are situated 1,500 to 2,000 feet high between the Biala and Dunajec rivers—to enable them to get quantities of stores accumulated behind Tarnow away and cover the retreat of the armies to the southward.

The question as to whether the Russian military viewpoint, if they cannot break the line of the Wisloka river, is the important one from the Austro-German point of view, is still undecided. The Russian Carpathian army, which is attempting to defend positions west of Lipupok, cannot make good its retreat.

The proposal of Alderman Thompson was made after the aldermanic board had reported to the effect that many of the social clubs are paying on from 18 to 40 per cent of their actual property holdings when the law provides for 60 per cent.

To comply with the letter of the law would mean to double the taxes of some of these institutions.

MARY ANTON TELLS VALUE OF SCHOOLS

"Let Politics Creep Into Your Schools and Prosperity of Your City Is Destroyed," She Says.

One had but to hear the lecture of Miss Mary Anton before a large and enthusiastic audience at the Atlanta theater last evening on education and school houses to realize that if Atlanta wants to achieve the highest and best aims of civic greatness it must place the schools above all civic improvements.

Miss Anton was introduced by Rabbi David Marx.

Taking the education of the immigrants to this country as an example, she pointed out that education in the public schools was the cornerstone of American greatness.

Striking Statements.

Among the striking statements she made were:

"The more you spend for schools the less you will have to spend for police and jails."

"The fathers and mothers must organize if any city expects to get the full educational facilities that are needed."

"The time has arrived when any city fails to send all of its children to a public school it will cease to advance in civic prosperity."

"The worst political corruption is when politicians lay their hands on the public school system."

"Let politics creep into your schools and the prosperity of your city is doomed."

"When Atlanta or any other city fails to make the schools the first consideration it strikes at the very foundation of its growth."

"The public schools are the foundation of true Americanism."

Lectures at Columbia.

Mary Anton is a Russian Jew. She is the wife of a Columbia university professor, and has herself lectured at Columbia university.

Through the school she found the light of liberty and freedom; freedom of politics and religion, with the same ideals taught to each and every child, the same chance given every child, and she understood the meaning of democracy, she grasped the meaning of the school as a means of progress.

Though speaking not a word of English, she found herself led on, and before she had finished the grammar school course she had measured up with the native child, and made a record for scholarship.

The success accompanied her school career, and it was but sixteen years before she had finished the university. She wrote one of the most noted books of the world, "Promised Land."

This book brought her into the public eye, and she has held her position there ever since. Her lectures, her magazine articles and her philosophy are illuminated by a patriotism that is dramatic.

W. A. JAMES FACES TWO CHARGES TODAY

Recorder Will Investigate Difficulty With W. S. Griffin Today.

Attorney W. A. James, of Douglasville, Ga., will have two opportunities today to demonstrate his legal skill as the result of his connection with the Griffin estate in College Park, which he had represented in a legal capacity.

In the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock he is scheduled to appear before Recorder Johnson to answer the charge of carrying concealed weapons and engaging in a difficulty with W. S. Griffin on Alabama street, near Forsyth, and at night he goes on trial at College Park following his arrest Sunday night near the home of Mrs. E. E. Griffin, the mother of W. S. Griffin.

James was held on the complaint of the Griffins, who stated they believed he was seeking to get possession of some papers to which they said he was not entitled.

James, it is alleged, was seen near the residence, and the occupants of the same said they believed he was seeking an opportunity to secure some legal papers said to belong to Mrs. Griffin.

Town Marshal Wall, of College Park, said that James was arrested there, and spent the night in the College Park jail. Colonel Pen H. Brewer on Monday morning signed Mrs. James' bond, according to the marshal.

The difficulty between Griffin and James was the result of this arrest, and the story told by the police.

GEORGIA EDUCATORS GATHER IN MACON Gov.-Elect Harris, Superintendent Brittain and Others Address Association.

Macon, Ga., May 6.—(Special).—Fully 700 teachers and educators from all over Georgia had arrived in Macon this evening and with several hundred Macon people attended the opening exercises of the Georgia Educational association held tonight at the city auditorium.

By tomorrow morning it is anticipated that the number of visitors will be swelled to well above 1,000. Last year there were over 800 teachers registered.

The exercises tonight were presided over by Professor J. C. Wardlaw, of Athens, president of the association, and addresses of welcome were delivered by Mayor Bridges Smith on behalf of the city; Dr. C. H. Jenkins, on behalf of the board of education; and Mr. J. C. Harris, on behalf of Mercer university. The exercises were presided over by Superintendent J. C. Harris, of Rome.

Governor Harris Speaks.

A survey of the educational conditions in Georgia was given by M. L. Brittain, state superintendent of education, who spoke generally of the betterment of the educational facilities throughout the state.

ATLANTA ELKS PREPARE FOR WAYCROSS MEETING

Special Train Will Carry Local Delegation to Annual State Convention.

Atlanta Lodge No. 74, B. P. O. E. expects to send a big delegation to the annual state convention, which will be held in Waycross, Ga., May 12-13.

The local delegation will travel on a special train, the A. B. & A. having been named the official route for the trip. In order to make the proper arrangements, however, the officers of the lodge are anxious that all members who intend to go notify Secretary Theo Mast at once.

Walter P. Andrews, president of the state association, and Martin Amoruso, exalted ruler of the local lodge, point out that it is necessary for Atlanta to be well represented since an effort will be made at the Waycross meeting to swing the Georgia Elks solidly behind Atlanta in their fight for the next meeting of the grand lodge.

Waycross Elks have made elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the visitors, and a great time is promised the East People on Earth.

Fifty Dozen of Them In a Great Fine Sale Today

Waists at $1.00—the marvel is, how can they be made at such a price?

They are so fresh and crisp and neatly made and fashioned so prettily—indeed, they do cause one to marvel how all this freshness and prettiness can be sold for $1.00.

But we are doing better and better things here at Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.'s this spring.

And besides, it is questionable whether these were made to be sold at $1.00.

If we may rely upon the Rome cables that the divergence between Austria and Italy is too wide to permit of agreement we may readily accept the conclusion that war is all that is now left for Italy. And it is not too much to say that Italy would welcome it in the hope of greater ultimate remuneration than she can hope to gain through peaceful negotiation.

Italy has seized what, of all others, appeared to be the psychic moment for the demand upon Austria for the return of the rich provinces at the head of the Adriatic seized from her more than half a century ago. She has taken advantage of conditions to insist upon a restoration that shall be complete, and back of the government in making this demand is crystallized Italian sentiment.

We might read Austria's answer in Franz Joseph's pathetic, "Let me die without dishonor," which cables have carried around the world. Austria, still, is willing to give more, but not all. Italy, with the upper hand, demands all, admits of no compromise. Compromising Italian ministries were forced to give way in the face of a determined public sentiment. Indications are that it is a matter of only a few days until Italian armies are in the field for Italy, but upon the side of the allies.

Should Austria accept the humiliation, hampered as she is, of meeting the Italian demands in toto, Italy would be bound in honor to continue neutral; and with the return of her lost provinces and her saving in money and men, she would be, after all, perhaps the greatest gainer in the European struggle without having unlimbered a gun.

But there is a deep-rooted impression that Italy is anxious to get into the struggle in the hope that at the end of the rainbow there is even a bigger pot of gold than the provinces whose complete restoration she is asking. It is this sentiment which is believed to be back of the insistent demand that Austria shall yield to the last farthing. The war party wants no better excuse than Austria's refusal. Italy believes in the cause of the allies; she looks to them ultimately to triumph and dictate the terms of peace. She believes that her own entrance will bring quicker termination to the struggle; and for that service she could demand not only her lost provinces, but a right to sit and vote at the long table when European map reconstruction is undertaken.

There is the same over in the Dardanelles, in which Italy is exceedingly interested. Her war vessels are reported ready to rush to the aid of the allies as soon as the declaration is made. There is not a nation adjacent to the Mediterranean but wants a say in the future of the Dardanelles.

Altogether, Italy would undoubtedly be better satisfied with war than without it, and Italian sentiment is perhaps the best suited that Austria refuses complete restoration. The critical moment is evidently approaching; trained guns are in readiness, and any day may bring news of hostilities commenced simultaneously with war's declaration.

BUYING AWAY FROM HOME.

Accustomed as all of us have been to deprecate the fact that the Georgia farmer, in the large aggregate, continues to spend his cotton cash for western grain and hay, instead of growing them at home, Georgians will read with surprise and, no doubt, humiliation, a statement just made public by the state department of agriculture, indicating the extreme extent to which we have gone in buying from other states those products which we can grow here in quality and quantity the equal of any soil in the country.

This statement made public by Commissioner J. D. Price is based upon careful inquiry among the wholesale merchants, brokers and commission men of Atlanta. It sets forth the amount of staple products handled in the Atlanta territory within the last twelve months, and the percentage of each bought from other states, or grown within Georgia's limits. The figures will prove startling:

Atlanta bought from other states and distributed within the year, according to these figures, 98.6 per cent of 2,117,000 bushels of corn, 100 per cent of 2,100,000 bushels of wheat, 99.7 per cent of 5,000 carloads of hay, 99.2 per cent of 2,888 carloads of oats, 100 per cent of 167 carloads of rutabagas, 78.3 per cent of 4,000 bushels of white peas, 100 per cent of 265,000 cases of canned tomatoes, 96.94 per cent of 544 carloads of sweet potatoes, 47.6 per cent of $34,200 worth of eggs, 48.1 per cent of $475,000 worth of poultry, and 100 per cent of all the lima beans, peanuts and onions sold through this market. These are but a few of the most striking figures given; the difference between the percentages stated and 100 per cent represents the amount of these products grown in Georgia and handled through the Atlanta market.

If these figures are not the result of careful and persistent inquiry, and furnished therefore, as approximately accurate, they must appear incredible. Is it an indictment of the Georgia farmer, or the Georgia consumer, or both? Must not the Georgia consumer also share part of the blame?

A man with broken window panes in his house is a slow, unprogressive citizen; but understanding the "conspiracy," he practically admits that our paper filled a long-felt want. In the use to which he has put it he will have brought light in his windows that he never had before.

When we point to the Georgia farmer who has been in the habit of growing cotton and then more cotton, neglecting other every food product, we are sometimes told that he has been made the victim of a system which demands cotton as the price of his continued existence. There is fallacy in the argument; every farmer in Georgia can emancipate himself from cotton, if he will only make the effort. The proof of it is in the thousands who have already done it.

We cannot believe that the Georgia consumer demands the foreign product. More than half the sweet potatoes he consumes, according to these figures, are Georgia-grown; every one of them should be. Is there any reason why he should reject the Georgia cabbage, the Georgia onion or Georgia canned tomatoes?

If the Georgia farmer will put into his product the quality which the Georgia soil can give it, and offer it in an attractive package, we cannot conceive of the Georgia merchant who would refuse to handle it or the Georgia consumer who would reject it for the foreign grown.

We are forced to believe that primary responsibility for this drain upon our resources rests with the Georgia producer. If he would feed Georgia first and make cotton his surplus crop he would get just as much for his cotton crop and at the same time build a substantial bank account upon home consumption.

DEPEW'S LOST OPPORTUNITY.

Dr. Chauncey M. Depew is very much amused and 31. It is because of four score years plus one that the Montauk Club of Brooklyn brought him forth from his retirement the other night and celebrated the fact that he was still here. Referring to Dr. Depew remarked that he hoped the Montauk club "would keep it up." Dr. Depew's return to monetary prominence was in the role that made him most famous, that of after-dinner speaker, and he touched upon everything from politics to trousers, up or down, as one may choose to put it, and then back again. Among other interesting things he told was how opportunity knocked upon his door and he refused to open:

In 1877 I had an option on a sixth of the Bell Telephone stock for $10,000. I consulted the most famous telegraphic expert in the country, and he advised me to drop it. "It is a toy and commercially a fake," he said. Had I followed my strong faith in the enterprise I would have been a millionaire.

It is doubtful whether he would have profited in the long run, had he profited, he would have been disappointed. He has touched the gamut of high political, business and social ambition, and rounded out a good old age with vigorous mentality whose hundreds of millions might, as he intimates, have cut short by a score or more of years. And if memory plays false with his exploits of statesmanship and big business, he will at least be sung through the ages as the highest exponent of the postprandial art.

When the toastmaster of another century shall have remarked, "We have with us tonight," we can fancy the honored guest replying, "As Chauncey Depew once said, and proud to honor."

The shorter and uglier word has been losing around the Roosevelt-Barney trial, anxious for exercise.

Under its new name Culebra Cut may change its tactics and give them the Gailard Gild.

Exchange of Compliments.
An offended subscriber wrote the editor of The Adams Enterprise:
"To show my contempt for your paper I've patched all the broken window panes in my house with the latest copy, without reading a line in it."

To this the unruffled editor replied:
"A man with broken window panes in his house is a slow, unprogressive citizen; but understanding the 'conspiracy,' he practically admits that our paper filled a long-felt want. In the use to which he has put it he will have brought light in his windows that he never had before."

To Be Made Show Place.

It seems the purpose of the owners of the Arles plantation is to make of it a model stock and farm, and a wonderful show place by the Central railway, while the famed Asheville-Thomaston highway comes in that direction also, and even now attracts the attention of hundreds of tourists. It is a splendid object lesson to hundreds of Sumter county farmers who are turning from cotton to more profitable crops.

Raising of fine live stock for market will also be a feature of the Arles farm, and already several car loads of fine hogs and cattle have been purchased, and will be pastured upon the grain fields when the oats and wheat is harvested. Large crops of hay and forage will be planted for the cattle and hogs, which, when the grain is shipped to the Moultrie packing plant, or elsewhere, this fine farm cost the owners about $100,000, and is the site of the former Bagley-Gober peach orchard.

Another enterprise to be established there at once is a great modern and model dairy and creamery. A herd of registered Guernsey cows has been purchased, and one of the largest and best arranged dairies in Georgia will soon be in operation there. And this is an anti-bellum cotton plantation transformed into a modern and model stock and grain estate.

Editor Constitution: For some time we have been wanting to thank you for the good work you have been doing for the schools, and we decided this morning, when we came the first, and until recently, the only fathers' club in Atlanta. This club was formed for the purpose of securing for us, for the many kindesses you have shown us, and for your loyalty to the schools and to the children of Atlanta.

In your paper this morning you gave an editorial notice to the fathers' club of Tenth street school district. We should like for you to know that our school has had for four years the first, and until recently, the only fathers' club in Atlanta. This club was formed for the purpose of securing for us, for the many kindesses you have shown us, and for your loyalty to the schools and to the children of Atlanta.

We have never been able to understand the sections of giving everything to some cause, and doing nothing for others. People in every part of the city pay the same taxes, don't they?

(Pittsfield (Mass.) Dispatch to The New York World.)
Mrs. Harry Leach, wife of the pastor of the Morningstar Baptist church, in an emergency, filled her husband's pulpit at both morning and evening services today, preaching two sermons.

Mrs. Leach was on Friday called to Maine by the illness of her mother, and his wife volunteered to preach. Tonight her subject was "The Heavenly Vision." Mr. and Mrs. Leach have been married about twelve years, and this was her first appearance as his substitute in a pulpit.

Importance of Being President.
Says The Brunswick Banner: "Woodrow Wilson now feels how important it is to be president. He has just received a telegram from New York for all the Georgia State league games."

Horse Comes to Funeral.

(La Crosse (Wis.) Dispatch to The Philadelphia Record.)
One of the most notable cases of animal devotion to an owner, was that today of Babe, a horse driven by Andrew Robinson, a La Crosse grocer, who died last week and whose funeral was held today. The horse had been driven for a dozen years by the grocer in the days before he became prosperous, when he was driving his own delivery wagon.

When he died the horse was sent at his wish to Irish Cove, it mutes away, with a provision that she be allowed to spend the rest of her life without work in the fields at pasture. Babe, however, heaped the fence and appeared at the Robinson home just in time to follow the hearse to the cemetery, without even a halter on her neck.

Striking Evidence of Diversified Farming
In Sumter County

Americus, Ga., May 6.—(Special).—Within one mile of Americus there is the most extensive and beautiful grain field, or rather farm, to be found anywhere in Georgia, a striking evidence of diversified farming and modern methods in agriculture. Between hundred acres of waving grain, oats, wheat, rye and corn, in one compact body, strikes the beholder, and elicits admiration.

Last year this same farm, the Arles plantation, owned by rich and progressive South Carolinian, produced 1,200 bales of cotton on 1,500 fertile acres. This year, under stress of conditions, the cotton acre is cut to less than 500 acres at least, it is estimated, should produce at least 350 bales.

Grain Acreage Increased.

But the area in grain was increased in proportion. Five hundred acres are planted in wheat, and a magnificent crop is already assured. Seven hundred acres of oats, wheat and fully half, grown alongside the wheat field with only a road separating the two crops, while a vast area in rye, already ripening, makes a splendid, compact grain field of 1,300 or 1,400 acres in one vast body, highly fertilized, these grain crops are growing luxuriantly. The 500 acres of wheat, it is estimated, will yield 20 to 25 bushels per acre, while the 700 acres of oats should yield 50 bushels, easily. Great cornfields also promise a harvest of that commodity.

The splendid tract in grain reminds one of Ohio or Kansas, rather than cotton-ridden south Georgia.

There are wheat and oat fields all over Sumter county, but none so large and model crop of at least 125,000 bushels, and twice that yield in oats, seems assured now, as rains came the past week to save the suffering crops.

To Be Made Show Place.

It seems the purpose of the owners of the Arles plantation is to make of it a model stock and farm, and a wonderful show place by the Central railway, while the famed Asheville-Thomaston highway comes in that direction also, and even now attracts the attention of hundreds of tourists. It is a splendid object lesson to hundreds of Sumter county farmers who are turning from cotton to more profitable crops.

Say Their Fathers' Club

Was First One in Atlanta

Editor Constitution: For some time we have been wanting to thank you for the good work you have been doing for the schools, and we decided this morning, when we came the first, and until recently, the only fathers' club in Atlanta. This club was formed for the purpose of securing for us, for the many kindesses you have shown us, and for your loyalty to the schools and to the children of Atlanta.

In your paper this morning you gave an editorial notice to the fathers' club of Tenth street school district. We should like for you to know that our school has had for four years the first, and until recently, the only fathers' club in Atlanta. This club was formed for the purpose of securing for us, for the many kindesses you have shown us, and for your loyalty to the schools and to the children of Atlanta.

We have never been able to understand the sections of giving everything to some cause, and doing nothing for others. People in every part of the city pay the same taxes, don't they?
With best wishes, we are your little friends,
THE CHILDREN OF DAVIS STREET SCHOOL CHURCH LEAGUE,
Per O'Neill Stoner, School Secy.

Praises Miss Dooley.

Editor Constitution: Mrs. Boehm and I want to thank Miss Dooley for the splendid articles on our schools that are appearing in The Constitution and that emanate from her versatile pen.

She is so thoroughly informed as to the conditions that exist and the conditions that SHOULD exist that the mere reading and the studying of them is an education. One who tries to help bring about betterment in public schools.

JULIAN V. BOEHM,
May 6, 1915.

Preached for Husband.

(Pittsfield (Mass.) Dispatch to The New York World.)
Mrs. Harry Leach, wife of the pastor of the Morningstar Baptist church, in an emergency, filled her husband's pulpit at both morning and evening services today, preaching two sermons.

Mrs. Leach was on Friday called to Maine by the illness of her mother, and his wife volunteered to preach. Tonight her subject was "The Heavenly Vision." Mr. and Mrs. Leach have been married about twelve years, and this was her first appearance as his substitute in a pulpit.

Charmed.

Watch out, Mister Bluebird—
"You lookin' mighty well."
"Jas's a rattlesnake'll charm you."
Then ring his bell.

Importance of Being President.
Says The Brunswick Banner: "Woodrow Wilson now feels how important it is to be president. He has just received a telegram from New York for all the Georgia State league games."

Horse Comes to Funeral.

(La Crosse (Wis.) Dispatch to The Philadelphia Record.)
One of the most notable cases of animal devotion to an owner, was that today of Babe, a horse driven by Andrew Robinson, a La Crosse grocer, who died last week and whose funeral was held today. The horse had been driven for a dozen years by the grocer in the days before he became prosperous, when he was driving his own delivery wagon.

When he died the horse was sent at his wish to Irish Cove, it mutes away, with a provision that she be allowed to spend the rest of her life without work in the fields at pasture. Babe, however, heaped the fence and appeared at the Robinson home just in time to follow the hearse to the cemetery, without even a halter on her neck.

A Combination That Can't Be Excelled
By Any Newspaper

COMPLETE service of the Associated Press, reinforced by special correspondents in the most important cities in every country on the civilized globe; special representatives in every large city in this country; correspondents in every city, town and hamlet in Georgia.

These are what make up the news service of The Sunday Constitution.

A TWELVE-PAGE feature section the like of which the south never saw before, the features written by the best writers obtainable, the art work done by the best artists known to the newspaper fraternity; the newest and funniest comics; the news or fashions illustrated in four colors; a double page of moving pictures.

These, with others, go to make up the feature section of The Sunday Constitution.

THESE features, combined with the unparalleled news service, make a combination that can not be excelled by any newspaper—not equalled by any newspaper that Dixie ever saw.

If you wish to keep up with the times, if you want to read the news while it's new, and at the same time know that what you are reading, if you want to read a newspaper that reflects the spirit of the south, if you want features that will appeal to you and the whole family—real features, not trash or hash—

The Constitution carries an irresistible appeal!

HERE are a few of the features you will find in The Constitution next Sunday:

Should City Man
Woo Country Maid?

MISS DOROTHY BRENNER is a city girl. She married a city man. After a few years of married life she wrote her husband next time "to get a girl from the country—a chicken off the farm." Miss Brenner is something of an Aristotele, and her story in Sunday's Constitution, setting forth the reasons she and her husband could not get along in double harness, is wonderfully interesting—even if her conclusions are not correct.

Both Members
Of This Club

THEY are twins, aged 19 months. Their papa says they are the paperweight pugilistic champions. They have challenged any paperweight fighter in the world to meet either of them at 35 pounds ringside. These two tots are always in the "pink of condition" and their papa and mamma tell how they keep them so. The full-page story is attractively illustrated with photographs of the remarkable youngsters.

Why We Snore and Dream
Of Purple Elephants

Housekeeper's Page

THE CONSTITUTION refrained for years from running a housekeepers' page—held back until the expert and the artists could be engaged who could get up a page worth-while, one that carried real interest, and that was really helpful to housekeepers. You will find such a page every Sunday in The Constitution.

The Bathing Girl Is Abroad in the Land

EVERY girl wants to know what is the latest in bathing suits. Every girl can find out in The Constitution Sunday. There will be two full pages, each reproduced in four colors, one entitled "For the Bathing Hour," the other entitled "Bathing Accessories."

Nothing Could Be More Amusing

THAN "baby" in search of a home and "Hank and His Animal Friends," unless it were possible to get Baby and Hank and all the animals on the same page. The popularity attained by these two comics in a short while is one of the marvels of the newspaper world.

That Double Page of Moving Pictures

EVERYBODY is a movie fan nowadays. Everybody wants to know who's who in the movie world, what's coming in the way of movie plays. There isn't but one way to find out absolutely, and that is by reading the double page which The Constitution devotes every Sunday to news and notes of the film world. It is the only way to get "behind the screens with Britt Craig."

These are only a few of the high points in next Sunday's Constitution. It is jammed full of features. You must not miss it. If you are not a regular subscriber, be one now.

You Cannot Keep Up With the Times Unless You Read

HUMANITARIAN SOCIETY ATTACKS POLICE

Officer Camp Declared Inefficient, and Officials Say They Received Little Help From Police Chief.

Police Camp, detailed by Chief Beavers to patrol the city as humane officer, was declared inefficient at a meeting of the Atlanta Humane society yesterday, and the organization appropriated money from its treasury to employ a man to protect suffering animals.

President R. C. Condon stated that he had tried to get Camp to report once a week. He said that the officer did this about three weeks ago. He said that he investigated the cases that Camp had reported, and that they were only those that had been shown to him, that he had made practically no cases on his own initiative. He stated that he wrote Chief Beavers, and that the chief told him that if he would come before the police board he would take some action. He then stated that he got Camp to resign, but that the commissioners told Camp that the chief was his boss, and to pay no attention to the society.

CANDLER TO SPEAK AT NATIONAL MEET OF THE AD CLUBS

Bishop Warren A. Candler, of Atlanta, has been invited to address the Associated Advertising Clubs of America at their convention in Chicago June 20. The occasion will be a triangular address upon "Law, Finance and Theology."

Chairman A. W. Farlinger, of the council finance committee, and a member of the city purchasing department, under the "old regime," will leave Saturday for an extended visit to New York and other eastern cities to make a study of the various paying materials and city purchasing departments.

BUILDING ERECTED FOR BIBLE CLASSES

The work of preparing the grounds at the Beulah Heights Bible school has culminated in the erection of a new and quite attractive house for the Bible school classes during the summer. Beginning Wednesday there will be lectures and classes and important studies in personal work.

Logan to Attend Conference.

Joseph C. Logan, general secretary of the Associated Charities, left yesterday evening to visit relatives in Virginia and to attend the National Conference of Charities and Corrections, convening in Baltimore, May 12 until May 20. Miss Lottie Rampcock will have charge of the local charities during his absence. Mr. Logan is a member of the committee on time and place of the national organization and will also make an address on fundamentals causing family breakdowns.

A Sensible Suggestion For Husbands

On your wedding anniversary, on your wife's birthday and at Christmas, make her heart glad with a set or more of Table Silver.

A nucleus to your "family silver" can be started with a set of knives and forks for use of the permanent patterns.

At intervals you can add a few pieces at a time. You will find that in this way you can soon acquire a fine set without feeling the cost.

Finest Home Lots Away From City Smoke and Dust in Peachtree Heights

Why? Because we must have the money to meet maturing obligations, and we are going to sell enough of them to do it. Read what leading Atlantans say of the high class and the advantages of this property:

Business Is Better

"I have no hesitation in saying there has been a great improvement, and this improvement is still going on and will become more and more noticeable."
JOHN K. OTTLEY
Vice Pres. Fourth National Bank

Business Is Better

"With the coming of spring, with a better feeling in the real estate field, with good planting weather and with the reasonably good collections we have had, I do not see any reason why we are not catering upon an era of prosperity."
C. E. CURRIER
President Atlanta National Bank

Mr. Moore's letter tells the story—shows you what leading Atlantans think of this section. We have many others. Here is what a few of them say:

"I think the Peachtree Heights section is unsurpassed for home-building purposes."
JOHN M. SLATON.

"We regard the Peachtree Heights Park section as one of the finest residence sections in or around Atlanta."
J. R. SMITH AND J. H. EWING.

"It is the property that appeals to me most for residential purposes."
GEORGE W. FORRESTER.

"Atlanta is growing more rapidly northward than in any other direction, and this property lies in the immediate line of development."
EDWIN P. ANSLEY.

But we don't want you to take anybody's word for it. We prefer that you go and see for yourself.

We are going to give you an opportunity, in the very teeth of the greatest prosperity the south has ever known, to buy these lots AT YOUR OWN PRICE—and it's the last one you will have.

As you know, it has all the city conveniences, is rapidly building in fine homes, and—but go and see it; that's the best way.

Go and look at it before the sale. Look everywhere else. Make any comparison you wish. You can't find any more home property like it, because there is no more.

Take the Buckhead car, or drive out Saturday. You will regret it if you are not there.

season it is even harder to figure them than before.

A glance at the records of the two teams only serves to further tangle one up in trying to deduce a winner. Georgia, lost to Auburn, but Tech won the game, however. Tech lost to Mercer, while Mercer beat Georgia and sat out the rest of the line. Comparisons of this nature only tend to get one in deeper than ever before.

In fielding and at the bat the odds appear to be about equal, comparing the men, may for many reasons, applies on the bases. In pitchers, Georgia, with Hitchcock and Corbin, appears to have an edge, those Brown and Senter will prove stiff opposition for the Red Sox.

The advance sale of tickets denotes a large crowd, another such crowd as always attends Georgia Tech games of any kind. And Saturday's crowd will test the enormous capacity of the big grand stand.
